UKRAINE WAR REGIONS BUSINESS MEANWHILE OPINION PODCASTS ARCHIVE

Who Was Igor Kirillov, the Highest-Ranking Assassinated Russian General?

19 hours ago

Now available online 30 years of independent journalism EXPLORE OUR ARCHIVE

- 1 Who Was Igor Kirillov, the Highest-Ranking
- Moscow After Apparent Suicide
- 4 Oil Spill Washes Up on Russia's Black Sea
- Russia Moves to Strip 'Foreign Agents' of
- Income From Assets

Igor Kirillov and his assistant were killed when an explosive device attached to a scooter went off as the two men left a building in a residential area in southeastern Moscow early in the morning, targeted assassination outside an apartment building in Moscow.

investigators said. Sources from Ukraine's security services have claimed responsibility for the targeted killing.

Kirillov is the most senior Russian military official to be killed in such a blast in Moscow since the Kremlin's full-scale invasion of Ukraine nearly three years ago.

Who is Igor Kirillov?

Here is everything we know about Kirillov and the circumstances surrounding his killing:

Lieutenant General Igor Kirillov, 54, headed the Russian military's radiological, chemical and biological defense forces since 2017.

The unit does not oversee Russia's nuclear weapons.

crimes" against Ukraine.

The U.K. sanctioned him and his unit in October over the alleged use of chemical weapons in Ukraine, describing him as a "significant mouthpiece for Russian disinformation."

Moscow has denied deploying chemical weapons in Ukraine.

Kirillov is known for his claims about alleged Western bio-laboratories and their possible connection with the spread of infectious diseases, including Covid-19.

He has claimed that Washington planned to provide biological weapons to Ukraine and that this would include targeting Russian troops with malaria-infected mosquitos.

Russia's Kursk region. Since 2022, Kirillov has also repeatedly claimed without evidence that Kyiv was developing a "dirty bomb" — a conventional weapon that would spread nuclear material. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

Russia's Investigative Committee said Kirillov and his assistant were killed after "an explosive device planted in a scooter parked near the entrance of a residential building was activated on the

How was he killed?

the Kremlin. The blast shattered several windows of the building and severely damaged the front door, according to an AFP reporter on the scene.

estimated power equivalent to 200 grams of TNT. What is known about his attackers?

Russia's Investigative Committee opened a criminal case regarding the killing of two servicemen Ukraine has not officially commented on the explosion.

but did not name any potential suspects.

Sources within Ukraine's SBU security service told BBC Ukraine and AFP that the explosion targeting Kirillov was the result of an SBU special operation.

"Kirillov was a war criminal and a completely legitimate target, as he issued orders to use banned entrance of the residential complex around 4 a.m. It added that surveillance of everyone exiting the building could have been conducted from a rented apartment across the street, a nearby car or

What does the Kremlin say? The Kremlin has not yet commented on Kirillov's killing.

Zakharova also accused Ukraine's Western allies of being "accomplices" to the brazen assassination in Moscow. Former Russian President Dmitry Medvedev, now the deputy chairman of the Security Council, a residential building on Ryazansky Prospekt in Moscow.

chemical weapons against Ukrainian forces," the source told BBC.

via the building's surveillance system which may have been hacked.

exposing the crimes of the Anglo-Saxons for many years, with facts in hand."

wrote that "The leadership of the Kyiv regime will pay in full" for Kirillov's death. What do other countries say?

Ukrainian officials have not yet commented on Kirillov's death. But an SBU source told AFP: "Kirillov was a war criminal and an absolutely legitimate target, as he gave orders to use banned chemical weapons against the Ukrainian military."

"Such an inglorious end awaits all those who kill Ukrainians. Retribution for war crimes is inevitable," the source said. A spokesman for British Prime Minister Keir Starmer said London was "not going to mourn" Department spokesman Matthew Miller said. "He was a general who was involved in a number of atrocities. He was involved in the use of chemical weapons against [the] Ukrainian military," Miller said.

for more transparency over the alleged use of toxic weapons.

Has Russia used chemical weapons in Ukraine?

Britain and the U.S. have accused Russia of using the toxic agent chloropicrin against Ukrainian troops in violation of the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC).

Chloropicrin is an oily liquid with a pungent odor known as a choking agent widely used during World War I as tear gas. The Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) specifically prohibits its use.

Ukraine's SBU security service claims that chemical weapons have been used in the country more than 4,800 times since Russia invaded in February 2022.

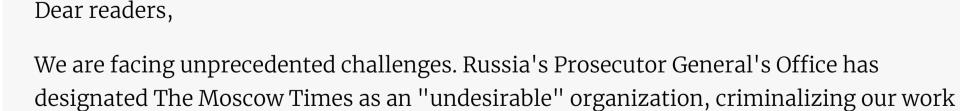

Read more about: Ukraine war

Sign up for our free weekly newsletter w

Your email Subscribers agree to the Privacy Policy

news from Russia.

AFP contributed reporting.

we need your help.

Continue →

A Message from The Moscow Times:

and putting our staff at risk of prosecution. This follows our earlier unjust labeling as a "foreign agent." These actions are direct attempts to silence independent journalism in Russia. The authorities claim our work "discredits the decisions of the Russian leadership." We see things differently: we strive to provide accurate, unbiased reporting on Russia.

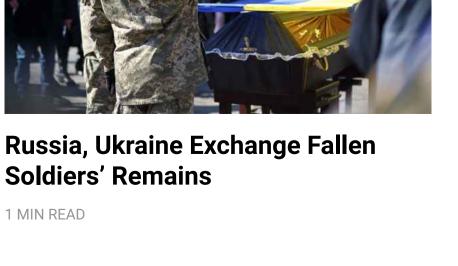

Your support, no matter how small, makes a world of difference. If you can, please support us monthly starting from just $2. It's quick to set up, and every contribution makes a significant impact.

face of repression. Thank you for standing with us. Once Monthly Annual $15 / month $10 / month Other

Not ready to support today? Remind me later.

VISA AMERICAN EXPRESS PayPal

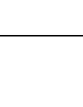

READ MORE

© The Moscow Times, all rights reserved.

Galleries Newsletters Archive

Moscow Times

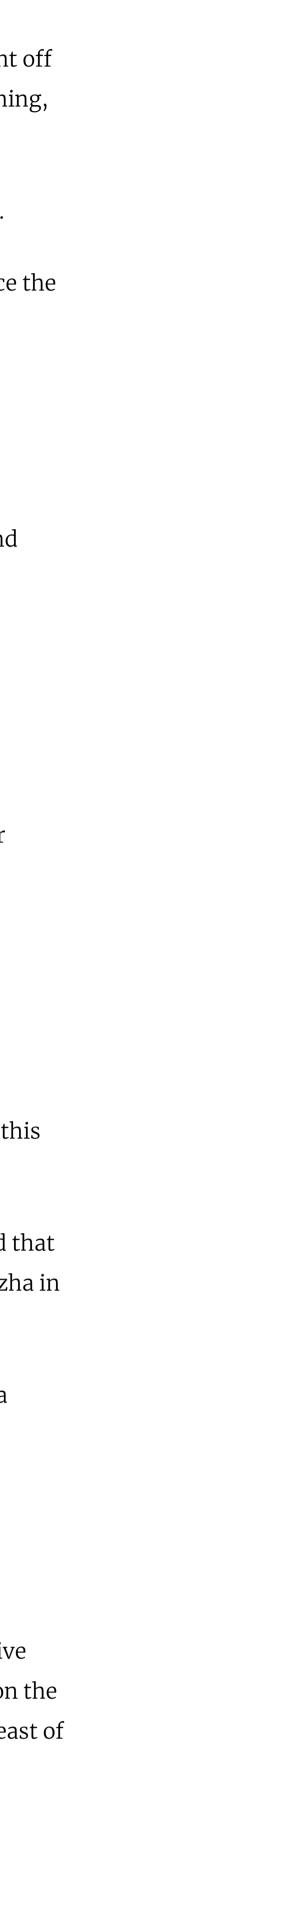

f y @ @ 3 D

Follow us

bne IntelliNews Belarusian Investigative Center

Media Partners

Euractiv

He was killed a day after Ukraine charged him in absentia on allegations of committing "war He has also repeatedly accused Kyiv of using chemical weapons. In October 2024, he claimed that the Ukrainian military used Western-made chemical weapons in the Kyiv-held town of Sudzha in morning of December 17 on Ryazansky Prospekt in Moscow," about seven kilometers southeast of

MOST READ JUST IN Assassinated Russian General? Latvian Basketball Star Found Dead in Russian Military's Chemical Weapons Chief Killed in Moscow Blast Coast After Storm Hits Aging Tankers

The state-run RIA Novosti news agency reported, citing a source, that the explosive device had an According to the sources, an explosive-laden scooter was detonated as Kirillov and his aide exited The Baza Telegram channel reported that the scooter loaded with explosives was placed near the Russian Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova said Kirillov had been "systematically Kirillov's death, saying he had "imposed suffering and death on the Ukrainian people." The U.S. said it was not involved in the killing of Kirillov but denounced his "atrocities." "I can tell you that the United States was not aware of it in advance and was not involved," State Russia has said it no longer possesses a military chemical arsenal but the country faces pressure In June, Ukraine accused Russia of increasing frontline attacks using prohibited hazardous chemicals and had registered more than 700 cases of their use the previous month.

Our weekly newsletter contains a hand-picked selection of news, features, analysis and more from The Moscow Times. You will receive it in your mailbox every Friday. Never miss the latest SUBSCRIBE

We, the journalists of The Moscow Times, refuse to be silenced. But to continue our work,

By supporting The Moscow Times, you're defending open, independent journalism in the

